London, To-day.
"The only chance of a just and durable peace is an assembly of all the great nations to discuss without reference to past experiments or present ideologies the best means of securing it," said Mr. Lloyd George in a broadcast to the United States last night.

Mr. Lloyd George asked: "Where is the statesman who will take this project in hand and can press it through? His name will endure forever as one of the greatest benefactors of mankind."

"Unless measures are taken boldly and promptly by the rulers of nations to secure a better understanding and a saner temper, a clash is inevitable on a scale which will rock the foundations of civilisation and will precipitate a catastrophe which will bury the work of centuries in ruins."

"Negotiations for pacts to propitiate the dictators might effect postponement of the ultimate conflict, but there will only be an armistice which will paralyse industry and social amelioration and will shatter the nerve of civilisation."

"To secure permanent peace, world pacification is essential."—Reuter.

Even A Reducing Diet Should Have Balanced Nutrition

Not even a husband can find fault with a reducing diet providing his wife is getting balanced nutrition while her figure slims. By that I mean such diets as all fruit juices, or all green vegetables, or milk alone, are dangerous to embrace.

The body requires fuel needs, building needs, protecting and eaten in losing weight to buy a good book on diet. Diet, what it means and what it should contain, cannot be told in a few words. Food is detail. Vitamins and calories are the details of food!

Take for instance the seven vitamins. Do you know which foods contains those vitamins? If you were deficient in calcium and someone said "You're deficient in Vitamin D—you had better change your diet," would you know which foods to eat? Few women would.

A balanced diet may be had by eating a quantity of each of the following foods. Not each day, but cover the list during a week. The amount you should eat depends upon your age, size and the amount of work you do each day.

What to Eat Each Week

Milk: Children, 1 quart a day.

Adults, 1 pint a day.

Fruit: Twice a day, fresh, canned or stewed.

Vegetables: Potatoes and two green vegetables each day.

Salads: Raw once a day.

Cheese: Alone or in combination with other foods.

Sugars and Sweets: Enough to make meals attractive.

Breads and Cereals: Some each day.

Eggs: Children, 1 a day.

Adults, 1 a day unless reducing.

Meat, Fish: One or the other each day.

Butter and Other Fats: Moderate amounts.

Cod-Liver Oil: Good for everyone. Needed by children.

A diet must give one enough energy to meet the day's requirement. If you feel exhausted you are not eating enough.

regulating needs. A little of each goes into the balanced diet.

There is much talk prevalent about vitamins and calories and the majority of women who decide to "diet" and grow slim, know very little about either. I would caution every woman who is inter-

A New Version Of The Shirtwaister

The deep yoke, with two decorative scallops in the front, give a refreshing fillip of difference to this indispensable and classic shirtwaist dress. It's ideal for housework, for the armholes are wide and the sleeves straight and unhamper-

ing. The skirt is made with an action pleat and there is a comfortable blouse at the waistline. Yet this design has such a tailored, finished look that you'll never be satisfied to confine it solely to your home life. You'll enjoy having some street and shopping versions of it, too.

Make it up in calico, gingham or percale for round the house; in flat crepe; jersey or thin wool for runabout. This design is a good one to begin on, if you haven't done much sewing, because it's so easy.

What The Stars Foretell

By MARY BLAKE

You may suffer a temporary disappointment this day, regarding some matter that later on will develop in a way that may be agreeably surprising. This is a good day to keep in mind that "While there is life there is hope," and if you "keep probability in view," Fate is likely to be most kind. You may discover this day that human nature, regardless of people's external appearance, is very susceptible to ness anywhere to pull you up short and hamper you. This house dress is slenderizing, because it is drawn into the waistline by darts and the lines are all up-and-down and perfectly plain. But it is also beltless and wrap-around, ensuring perfect freedom of motion. The armholes are easy, — the sleeves short, plain and straight. This model is easy to iron, too—spreads out flat on the board.

This house dress is so easy to make that you can turn out half a dozen in no time—gingham, percale, calico or pique.

the influence of cajolery and through its tactful use you may get some important favour granted. You may have to deal with a very temperamental person this day; be careful not to irritate that person or insist on his or her doing something he or she is disinclined to do. Married and engaged couples, as well as those with a tender yearning for a certain person, should decide on some form of diversion this day, so as to prevent any chances of having a boresome evening.

If a woman and November 12 is your birthday, you probably have so many good intentions that you find it difficult to carry out some of them, so concentrate on a few. You are apt to find that "few things are impossible to diligence and skill." If you will make use of both this day you are likely to accomplish a great deal. Never treasure up sweet thoughts of revenge, for if you keep them stored any length of time they probably will have a very detrimental effect upon your disposition. One of the most important things you may have to learn is the importance of being able to forgive and forget fancied or real wrongs. Through radio entertaining, acting, teaching, singing, selling, writing or secretarial work you may become free of all financial worries. If you realise that marriage is a game that calls for an extra amount of good sportsmanship, you will find it well worth the playing.

RELIEF PROMISED TO FOREIGNERS MAROONED IN KULING MOUNTAIN

Shanghai, To-day.

About two hundred foreigners, practically all missionaries of various nationalities, who since the conquest of the Yangtse port of Kiukiang by the Japanese at the end of July, have been living at the nearby mountain resort of Kuling, where they are entirely isolated from the world, took new hope on learning that the Japanese naval authorities at Kiukiang and Hankow had received instructions from Tokyo to do everything possible to relieve them from their plight as soon as possible.

The marooned community living on the narrow plateau of the Lushan Mountain range 25 kilometres, south of Kiukiang, is unable to leave the spot since Chinese irregulars are entrenched around the mountains on every side and resist all advances of the Japanese.

For fear of hitting the company of foreigners the Japanese artillery cannot be employed and all demands by the Japanese that the Chinese irregulars should surrender, remain unanswered.

Food in Kuling is becoming scarcer and scarcer, and it is feared that the few supplies left will be confiscated by the Chinese irregulars. — Trans-Ocean.

NEW POPULAR FRONT EFFORT IN FRANCE

Paris, To-day.

Following the defection of the Radical Socialists, who had already announced their intention to break away from their former political associates in the Popular Front, complete disruption of this front occurred when the representative of the Socialist Republican Union resigned from the special committee set up with object of rallying public support for the idea of a new popular front. — Trans-Ocean.

FRANCE APPROVES CHAMBERLAIN ATTITUDE

Paris, To-day.

The statement made by Prime Minister Chamberlain in the Commons regarding German colonial claims, is received with great satisfaction in official French circles, which emphasize the conformity of English and French views.

London as well as Paris insist that solution of the colonial question must not be treated separately but within a general settlement of pending European problems. — Trans-Ocean.

SOUTH AMERICA BATTLE WITH UNITED STATES

Buenos Aires, To-day.

Efforts now being made by the United States Government to sell the North American wheat surplus in Brazil with the aid of the Government export premium, have given rise to great indignation in the Argentine Republic and have in fact already created a situation of a grave character.

The trouble has been caused by the fact that Brazil has always been regarded as a natural market for Argentine wheat, which it has purchased in the past often to the full extent of its requirements.

It is not yet possible to predict the full consequences of this action of the United States, but there is no mistaking the fact that the Argentine sees in this plan to drop large quantities of North American wheat in Brazil as an unfair attempt to capture one of the Argentine's best markets.

This view has already been brought to the notice of the United States Government.

The situation is such that it might easily lead to international complications unless at the last minute a way is found for resolving the problem in a friendly and satisfactory manner.

COMPROMISE CHANCE?

Circles in close touch with the Argentine Government are inclined to believe that the United States will not fail to be impressed by the gravity of the situation created and will seek to reach settlement of the question acceptable to both sides.

Business circles here on the other hand see no present chance of compromise on the matter which strikes at the roots of Argentine trade and commerce.

It is pointed out that only a few days ago the Argentine peso was devaluated to a considerable extent in order to give a fillip to the Argentine export trade.

One thing is certain, the efforts of the United States to dispose of its surplus wheat in South America have cast deep shadows on the forthcoming Pan-America Conference in Lima, as well as the meeting, probably before the opening of the Lima Conference, of the Finance Ministers of the Argentine, Brazil and Uruguay. — Trans-Ocean.

'GREAT ARMY OF MARTYRS' IN GERMAN CHURCH: TELLS OF SECRET SYNOD

"In Germany the church in the catacombs exists and to visit it is no fancy adventure," declared Mr. S. H. Moore, headmaster of Silcoates School, Wakefield, at the autumn assembly of the Congregational Union at Bradford.

The spiritual principles of the Reformation were still intact in Germany, and a secret synod which he attended in the heart of the country a short time ago based all its actions upon such principles.

Mr. Moore said that he had spoken to a number of men and he knew of a very much larger number who had been in prison and had been harshly treated—some of them very harshly—for their religious belief. Since 1933, 7,000 had been arrested for religious offences.

TEACHING SUPPRESSED

Under penalties all young men and young women had been removed from every form of Christian worship; all theological colleges had been closed; all Christian teaching had been suppressed in the schools. For five years a stream of defamation and calumny had assailed Christian principles and Christian people.

Printing presses had been closed, telephones tapped, and correspondence consigned and destroyed when religious matters were in question.

"Pastor Niemöller is being slowly murdered," Mr. Moore said, "and many another member of that great army of martyrs has lost goods, liberty, and in some cases life. Of the 18,000 Protestant pastors in Germany 1,300 have been imprisoned, some of them several times."

SUBJECT OF SCORN

When such things were going on, surely they, co-believers, were bound to interest themselves in the matter? The Church to-day in Germany was a suffering Church. It was a subject of scorn.

Germany had set up "Mein Kampf" and the sword in place of the Bible and the Cross. The Labour Front leader had said, "The party claims the totality of the soul of the German people."

In spite of all the trials, testing and temptations, the real Church was being preserved in that country.

Mr. Bernard L. Manning, of Jesus College, Cambridge, speaking of the present peril to the Reformation heritage among the Churches of the Reformation, said that he was not thinking of the revival of bogus liturgies or the placing of crosses in churches and on Com-

"FRANCE FOR THE FRENCH," PARIS STUDENTS SHOUT

Paris, To-day. "France for the French," many students shouted to-day when the Minister of Education, M. Jean Zay, arrived at Sorbonne University for the solemn reopening ceremony.

Several other students went into the college building and set free pigeons which they smuggled in under cover of their clothes.

The police arrested three of the students, charging them with insulting officials.

munion tables. It was not in these externals, but in the soul of their worship that their danger lurked.

BIBLE'S DISAPPEARANCE

"We have churches," he said, "some with liturgies, some without, some with crosses, some without, where the inheritance of the Reformers has been almost lost because the Word and the Sacrament have almost gone."

"The great central pulpit has shrunk to a reading desk, or has been flattened to a platform. The great Bible has disappeared. The readings from the Scriptures have dwindled to a snippet or a lesson."

"The hymns are not charged in every line with Scriptural content. They discuss mountain scenery, psychological disorders, priggish ambitions and political programmes."

The preaching of the Word had evaporated into flabby platitudes about the dangers of the international situation or the commonplaces of Ella Wheeler Wilcox, expressed even more prosaically than in her poetry.

The witness of the Reformation had perished among them when the glory of the primitive rite of the Lord's Supper was lost. He was confident, however, that the peril would pass.

"THE YAM" AT THE GLOUCESTER

Challenging the vogue of all other ballroom dances, "The Yam," as introduced by Fred Astaire and Ginger Rogers in RKO Radio's Carefree, will be performed by "Pat" and Andy" at the Gloucester Hotel to-night.

Chungking, To-day.

An exodus is now going on from the Yangtse port of Ichang, with most of the inhabitants attempting to proceed up river to flee into the country.

Departing steamers are crammed with passengers seeking safety at up river ports.

Most of them are going to Wanh sien, which is overcrowded with refugees.

A railway ferry from Nanking, still containing a number of railway coaches, which had been lying at Hankow since the fall of Nanking, was seen at Ichang amidst a collection of Chinese craft driven up the Yangtse.

"Could Not Tell Policemen To Shoot Germans"

"Because Inwardly I Sympathised With Them"

Berlin, To-day.

"I couldn't tell policemen to shoot at Germans who committed the assaults because I inwardly sympathised with them."

This classic phrase was part of a statement by the Nazi Jew-baiting Propaganda Minister, Dr. Joseph Goebbels, to foreign pressmen in Berlin yesterday.

Dr. Goebbels informed the foreign correspondents that measures "must be taken" against the Jews, but they would be "only of a legal character."

He emphatically denied that the outburst was organised.

Dr. Goebbels denied that there had been looting, though it was "quite possible that some old woman took a coat to give her daughter at Christmas."

The Nazi Minister insisted that the outbreak was "spontaneous," and admitted that some Jews were bodily harmed.

He added: "I am not so stupid as to export National Socialism to England and France, whose democracies weaken them."

NATION DEFENDING ITSELF

"It is good for a nation to be able to defend itself against the Jewish parasites."

"I am prepared to give all our Jews to any nation which hasn't enough of its own." — Reuter.

London, To-day.

It is officially announced that the British Charge d'Affaires in Berlin, Sir Georges Ogilvie-Forbes, was instructed by the British Government in connection with the anti-Jew demonstrations in Germany to give all necessary protection to Jews of British nationality living in Germany.

Paris, To-day.

Armistice-Day celebrations took place in all French towns and villages yesterday.

BRITISH ANGER AT POGROM IN GERMANY

London, To-day.

Denouncing the anti-Jewish outbreak in Germany, Sir Archibald Sinclair, Liberal Parliamentary leader, in a speech at Northampton last night drew two conclusions from it.

He said firstly we must redouble our efforts to solve the refugee problem, and make it clear to Germany that if she wants the friendship of other nations she must cease persecuting and robbing the Jews and flinging them on the charity of her neighbours.

Moreover, we must not allow the Arabs to be incited by German and Italian propaganda, assisted by imports of German arms, to frighten our Government out of fulfilment of our wartime pledges to give the Jews a national home in Palestine.

FRENZIED BARBARISM

Secondly, Britain cannot honourably hand over to a government which permits, and even instigates, such vile outbursts of frenzied barbarism against what it regards as a subject and inferior race, any of those primitive peoples of Africa who now enjoy the blessings of freedom and impartial justice under British rule.

There were several possible solutions to the colonial problem but that solution must now be ruled out.—Reuter.

RAIDS OVER THE BORDER

Prague, To-day.

Hungarian and Polish volunteers are reported to continue their raids into Carpatho Ukraine territory.

Polish terrorists allegedly attacked the post office in Torun, killing one member of the staff.

Simultaneously from the south a group of Hungarian volunteers fired at frontier guards severely wounding one Czechoslovak soldier.

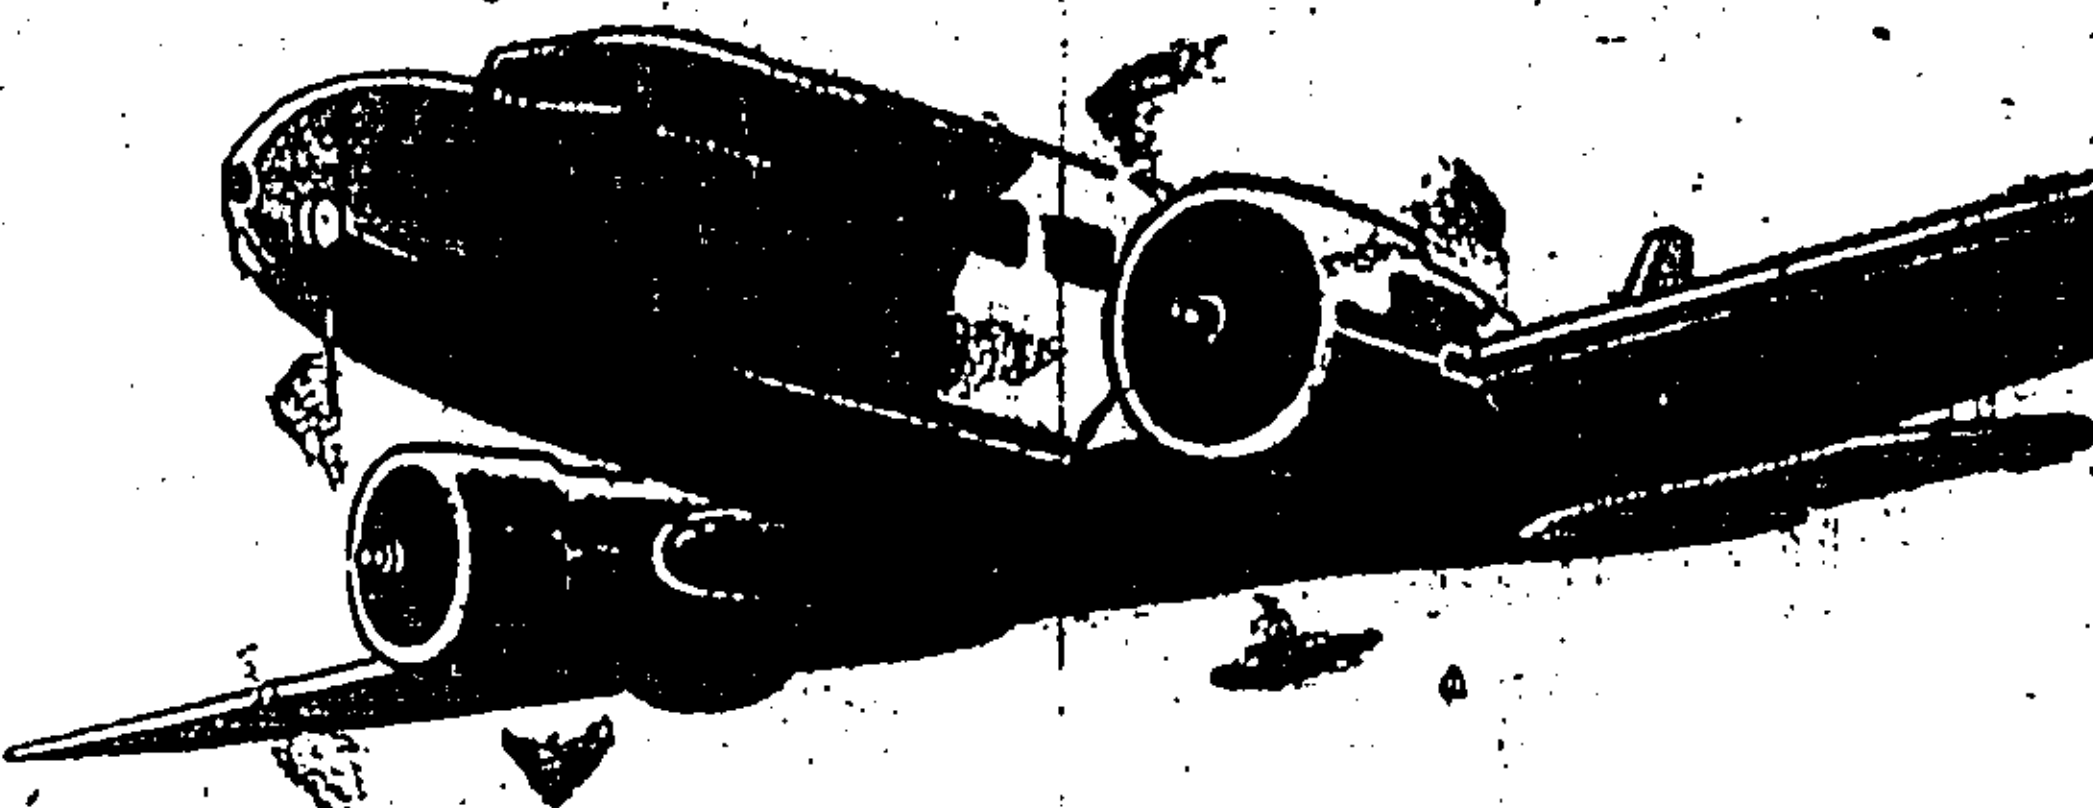

Numerous fugitives arriving in Prague from Carpatho-Ukraine ask for the recruiting office of the French Foreign Legion. This seems to indicate that irresponsible elements have begun activities in this direction.—Trans-Ocean.

THE DAILY SHORT STORY

THE PALMIST

"I can't understand," said Mary Ellen, "why you're so excited about this fortune teller person. We're to meet to-night. It seems so silly and absurd."

"He isn't a fortune teller," Lucy Murdock insisted, almost, sharply. "He's a palmist. And there's a great deal of difference!"

Mary Ellen shrugged. "They're both the same," she replied. "To me, anyhow. It's all so silly. Imagine anyone being able to predict your future. Bosh!"

"Well, anyway," Lucy said lightly. "He sounds interesting, and it'll be loads of fun meeting him."

Mary Ellen got the surprise of her young life when she and Lucy arrived at Sally Hathaway's party that night. The "Palmist" was already among those present. Very much so. In fact, it looked to Mary Ellen and Lucy as if there were no one else of importance in the room.

"Isn't he exciting looking?" Sally asked, taking each of the girls by an aries, "I didn't intend to be rude. But when I looked into your eyes, well—" he faltered.

"Well?" Mary Ellen asked sweetly. Bob went on breathlessly. "I didn't need to look at your palm to predict your future. I knew then that a light-haired man was coming into your life and—and—"

Again he faltered, and Mary Ellen began to feel her heart beat wildly. Yet she managed to retain an outward calm.

"And?" she asked, her voice scarcely audible.

Bob Traynor swept a spot of moisture from his forehead. He seemed to be groping for the right words.

"Mary Ellen," he blurted. "May I hope—will there—that is, I wish—"

Mary Ellen suddenly laughed. Every trace of anger and humiliation that he had caused her was swept aside. In its stead was a new emotion, a queer feeling of ecstasy that she had never before known.

"Heretofore," she said, looking arm and leading them into the living-room where a tall, blonde person with laughing blue eyes was the centre of an interested group.

"But—but," Mary Ellen faltered, "I thought fortune tellers were queer old men with whiskers. This one—he your guest, seems quite young—and human," she finished lamely.

Sally laughed and nudged Lucy. "Bob isn't really a palmist," she said. "He's a lawyer by profession. Palmistry is merely a hobby which interests him immensely."

deep into his eyes, "I thought fortune telling and palmistry was all rot. But perhaps—I may have been wrong."

Her meaning to Bob Traynor was quite clear. And had Sally Hathaway at that moment not put in an appearance, he might have said things to Mary Ellen about her future that no palmist had ever dreamed.

CHAMPIONS
DEMOCRACY

Need For Unity

Mr. Anthony Eden, former Foreign Secretary, said at Southampton that only when men and women were free and governed by free institutions could they give to their best.

"For my part," he said, "I could never subscribe to any other doctrine, or take any part in public life were any such other doctrine to be widely accepted in this land. But it won't be. That doctrine of belief in individual liberty will endure."

"Our hope in post-war days was to live in a world freed for ever of aggressive militarism. A world where international friendships would break down all barriers, a world where, at home, all sections of the community would work together in frank sincerity for the good of the whole. Those hopes were disappointed."

"Now, when the world outlook is dark, the nation is beginning to feel once again the need for unity, comradeship, and joint national effort such as animated us in the war years."

They had paused, unnoticed by the tall youth, on the group's edge.

"As a matter of fact," Bob Traynor was saying, "palmistry is actually a scientific study of the construction of the human hand. There's no guess work about it. Time and time again I've been able to predict accurately facts concerning people's futures."

He paused, and impulsively Mary Ellen stepped forward. "I wonder," she said with the faintest of twinkles in her brown eyes, "if you can tell me my name. Most fortune tellers are able to do at least that."

Bob Traynor looked into Mary Ellen's eyes and smiled. "I'm not a fortune teller," he laughed. "But I believe your name is Mary Ellen Brown. You're not married, and won't be for almost a year. When you do marry it will be to a light-haired youth, to whom you've never been properly introduced."

Mary Ellen flushed to the roots of her hair. For a second she was seized by a panicky desire to flee from the circle of laughing faces. Her lips smiled, but inwardly she seethed.

"And you can tell me all this without even looking at my palm!" she said sweetly. "Well, I can do as much for you. Your name is Bob Traynor. You're a lawyer. You're not married. And you won't be, not at least, within a year."

It was Bob's turn to flush. Mary Ellen had turned the tables nicely. Sally Hathaway foresaw trouble and interceded. The group broke up, much to the relief of the two young people who had not as yet been properly introduced.

Later Bob managed to get Mary Ellen into a secluded corner. "I'm sorry," he began without prelimin-

POLITICAL CRISIS LOOMS IN CZECHO-SLOVAKIA

Slovaks Accuse Prague Of Breaking Promise

New President Meeting Left Wing Opposition

Prague, To-day.

A political crisis threatens in Czecho-Slovakia over the issue of election of a new President to succeed Dr. Edouard Benes and the Slovak Party's demand for autonomy in their region.

Among candidates for the presidency, Dr. Chalkovsky, the present Foreign Minister, stands the biggest chance of success.

However, strong opposition to him is being offered by left wingers who are endeavouring to maintain the present Government.

They would like to postpone the presidential election indefinitely.

The Slovaks are accusing Prague of avoiding the question of autonomy promised on October 8.

They insist that Parliament meets on Nov. 17 to deal with the matter, otherwise they threaten to withdraw and to take no further interest in Prague, and to manage their own affairs.—Reuter.

TISO STATEMENT

Pressburg, To-day.

The Slovak Premier, Dr. Tiso, in an interview with a German newspaper correspondent, made an important statement on future relations of Slovakia with Prague and Germany.

"The Slovaks claim full power in their state including control of the army, and they will realize these claims," Dr. Tiso declared.

"It is an established fact that the new Slovak government does not live at the mercy of Prague but is clearly based on the will of the people. This fact might be expressed by a plebiscite.

"MISTAKEN DEMOCRACY"

"Prague is still suffering from the detrimental after-effects of mistaken democracy. This particularly refers to measures for solution of the Jewish problem, which must be carried through with the greatest consistency."

Regarding the position of the German minority in Slovakia, Dr. Tiso sees good prospects for friendly relations between Germans and Slovaks in the new Slovak state, in which he said Germans will receive administrative, cultural and economic autonomy.

The Premier expressed the hope that Germans in Slovakia will act also as mediators between Slovakia and the Reich.

He concluded by saying, "The Slovaks desire good co-operation with all neighbours but especially with the great German nation."—Trans-Ocean.

GENERAL INEUNU NEW PRESIDENT OF TURKEY: NO CHANGE OF POLICY

Istanbul, To-day.

A salute of 101 guns yesterday announced the election of General Ismet Ineunu as President of Turkey, which the National Assembly unanimously voted.

It is generally felt that Kemal Ataturk's policy, both in home and foreign affairs, will be continued without the slightest alteration, and no Cabinet changes are expected.

General Ismet Ineunu, who was Ataturk's oldest and closest collaborator, was Turkish Premier for thirteen years.

He commanded one of Ataturk's armies in the Turkish war of independence, and was chiefly responsible for the crushing defeat inflicted on the Greeks.

He is 58 years old, and adopted the name of Ineunu after one of his victories, when the Turks were ordered to adopt western fashion surnames.

WAR ON LOCAL EPIDEMICS

As the record of the toll of cholera gradually disappears from the Colony's daily bill of health, smallpox, dread ailment of the winter months, is beginning to come in to take its place.

Knowing by comforting experience something of the methods of our Director of Medical Services, it is not surprising, therefore, that he has begun his campaign early, and given the warning that community co-operation is essential to success in the eternal war on epidemics.

Chief point of Dr. Selwyn Clarke's message is that the virulence of the type of smallpox which exists in Hong Kong is such as to break through the long-held belief that vaccination once in every five years afforded adequate protection. Three years, at the most, is nearer to the safety margin in Hong Kong, and wisdom would recommend intervals of not more than two years.

Of a repetition of the disastrous first few months of this year, when there were 2,290 cases and 1,811 deaths, nearly 80 per cent. mortality, there is little likelihood, thanks to an energetic drive and a million new vaccinations. But the outbreak will be there, ready to spread if given the opportunity, and the many persons not sufficiently protected should take heed.

Thus far, the medical authorities have not carried their powers of compulsory vaccination to the legal limit, preferring to exhaust the possibilities of educating superstitious people to the view that what is suggested is for their own good and their children's good.

If a smallpox outbreak develops to epidemic proportions, however, there will be no option but enforcement.

Centenary

It may seem a long way off, but, in a little over two years, Hong Kong will be celebrating its centenary and it is time we began to think of the form the celebration is to take.

Hong Kong has contributed much to developments of manifold variety in the Far East, and its centenary, for that reason, will not be without importance to the big world without its boundaries.

The form it should take is an interesting question, to which all might contribute by valuable suggestions, though it would seem that the commemoration should place chief emphasis on civic development.

Hong Kong has prided itself on its rise to a foremost world seaport from a barren rock, and no more interesting exhibition could be devised than one designed to illustrate, chiefly by contrast of old and modern, the giant strides which have taken place in the organised life of the city, and in the way of the health, comfort, safety and education of the citizen.

It might also subtly suggest that what we have already achieved is nothing to what we are going to do in the next hundred years!

The Child and the Film

Most of the nations of the world take some care to see that children do not suffer from the impact of unsuitable films.

British parents who discover on reaching a cinema that the regulations may forbid them from entering with a ten-year-old will learn with some astonishment that in parts of Switzerland and Austria no young person under 18 is admitted to a commercial picture theatre at all.

The fact emerges from a report presented to the Advisory Committee of the League of Nations on Social Questions by Mr. S. W. Harris, of the British Foreign Office, which embodies information about the practice in many lands. The eighteen age-limit is exceptional, but the habit of dividing films into categories roughly corresponding to Britain's "A" and "U" is widespread.

The degree of severity with which censorship operates varies from country to country, and, in Hong Kong, from censor to censor.

The Danish censors are said to reject for children's entertainment about a quarter of the feature films that come before them. In Belgium the average of rejection over sixteen years has been 30 per cent., and in the Netherlands in 1933 it was as high as 46 per cent. About what the child likes best the world over there is more agreement.

The clean adventure tale still holds its own from Poland to Peru, the educational film, unless carefully disguised, is rejected, the more fatuous sort of farce makes little appeal, and there is short shift for the producer who, seizing on a well-known story, distorts it to suit his sequences.

If the young were supplied with more of the films that meet their requirements, many of their minds would join heartily in suggestion.

Germany Is Watching British Rearmament

"Perplexity" Over Latest Efforts

Germany's attitude to the latest British rearmament measures is formulated in an authoritative article which appears in the "Frankfurter Zeitung."

"It is Britain's own affair," states the writer, "if in view of the international situation she regards further rearmament as necessary."

"But it is another matter altogether if, at the very moment when peace is said to have been saved and a new era to have opened in Europe, the intensification of rearmament takes on an almost feverish rhythm, a basic reform of the British Army is announced by Mr. Hore Belisha with propagandist emphasis, and a prominent member of the Government like Lord Winterton tours South Coast watering places to make propagandist speeches in favour of rearmament."

"Meanwhile in France the construction of a second and third line of the Maginot fortifications is begun."

"UNDERMINING PEACE"

"Such exaggerated efforts must cause perplexity, in Germany because they are accompanied by an agitation intended to undermine the peace labours of Munich. Mr. Chamberlain's work must lose some of its value in German eyes if we are subsequently given the impression that his policy was a result of British weakness."

"If the speed-up in British rearmament is due to disappointment or shame at the result of the Munich conference it certainly gains a special significance for Germany, and we cannot look on indifferently at the rearmament wave in Britain and France."

"In fact the Fuehrer's speech at Saarbruecken clearly showed that Germany cannot remain indifferent, and that she must take care that the due proportion in European armament, which was reached through her own delayed rearmament, is maintained."

"The decisions which the Fuehrer announced are a result of the calamitous tendencies which became evident soon after the Munich conference. It is to be hoped that these tendencies will not attain a strength against which Germany's unshakeable desire for peace will be of no avail."

INTEREST IN A.R.P.

The "Koelnische Zeitung" reports very fully the measures which are being taken in Britain for the reorganisation of the Territorial Army, and accompanies the report with an article entitled: "A.R.P." These letters it is stated have now suddenly become part of English life, particularly in London.

The writer declares that England has suddenly become aware of its vulnerability to air attack, and it is feverishly taking defensive measures. Not only are the A.R.P. trenches in the London parks and the air-raid cellars in large buildings being put on a permanent basis but private persons are also building themselves shelters.

Although the English type of small house is not suitable for cellar protection, says the writer, the extent to which householders are preparing shelters in their gardens is shown by the advertisements of cement firms.

THE BALLOON BARRAGE

Military measures, he says, are being taken in all directions; for instance, the use of Territorial for anti-aircraft defence, the increase of the civil air organisations, the building up of the fire fighting and ambulance services and the experiments with the balloon barrage.

The London correspondent of the "Voelkischer Beobachter," Dr. Theodor Boettiger, quotes Major Gen. Temperley's recent article in "The Daily Telegraph and Morning Post" on the reorganisation of the Territorial Army, and points out that the Territorials are now to become a "second line" of the Regular Army.

Dr. Boettiger stresses the fact that particular emphasis is laid under the new British scheme of the role to be played by the Air Force.

In an article headed "England and We," in the "Hamburger Fremdenblatt," Dr. Halfeld, the paper's Berlin correspondent, states that recent attacks on Germany and her leader justified the statement that there was now a war party in England which was strong enough to deserve the attention of the Reich.

The opposition to Mr. Chamberlain's foreign policy, he adds, had reaped its first fruits in Herr Hitler's Saarbruecken speech.

READY TO NEGOTIATE

Referring to the colonial question, he states that the establishment of the colonial mandates was based on the "shameful assertion" that Germany was incapable of ad-

Chamberlain's Attitude Isolates U.S.A. In Far East

Washington, Nov. 5.

The United States' attitude towards the Far East remains unchanged and will stay expectant until a reply is received to the Note sent Japan on October 6, when Washington protested against infringement upon its rights in China.

Such is the opinion of authoritative diplomatic quarters here, questioned to-day by a Havas correspondent. They believe that Britain's attitude, preferring a compromise with the totalitarian countries to an economic or ideological battle, leaves the U. S. practically isolated in the Far East.

Such is the United States' position because State Secretary Cordell Hull refuses to conclude any accord which might imperil the principles of his policy, the same circles add.

But his policy is now menaced both abroad and inside this country, close observers note. British Premier Neville Chamberlain's policies threaten it abroad, they say.

And internally, it is menaced by the attitude of sections of opinion whose essential interests lie in the maintenance of exports. These latter sections of opinion are represented both by Wall Street quarters and by the southern States, where the record crop of cotton and the lowered price of this commodity are raising an important economic problem.

Observers now wonder whether, facing such opposition, the U. S. Government will be able to maintain the firmness of their foreign policy.

Here's Luck!

Washington, To-day.
President Roosevelt yesterday told pressmen that the election returns were "all right."
He did not believe the results constituted any threat to continuation of a liberal government. — Reuter.

NEW RECORDS AT SOUTH CHINA ATHLETIC MEET

Two club records and one China record were broken at the South China Athletic Association's annual athletic meeting held at Caroline Hill stadium yesterday. The track was fairly firm and springy due to the slight fall of rain on the evening before the meet, while weather conditions were just about perfect.

A large crowd was present to watch the athletics, while prior to the start, the Chinese National Anthem was sung by the gathering in front of the Club House. A three minutes silence was also observed for the Chinese dead and wounded soldiers at the front.

Almost 100 competitors took part in the various events, while 20 took part in the last event of 10,000 metres, and ten of them finished the full distance. There were eight entrants for the 400 metres relay race, which was open to the Colony. The finals and other events will be concluded to-morrow morning.

CZECH ROAD SCHEME CAUSES DISSENSION

Prague, To-day.

Trouble has arisen in Czechoslovakia over the project of constructing a big motorway to run from one end of the country to the other as backbone of the new system of communications following cession of the Sudetenland.

Bulk of the British loan made to Czechoslovakia is to be devoted to the task of financing this project.

Plans disclosed this week show that it is intended to start building this highway at Prague and to have it run eastwards.

A joint meeting of several leading organisations in the town of Pilsen has protested against this plan and has demanded that the motorway should start at the German-Czech frontier and be linked up with Germany's extensive system of motorways.—Trans-Ocean.

PIROW BOUND FOR GERMANY

Berlin, To-day.

The Defence Minister of the South African Union, Mr. Oswald Pirow, according to a well-informed source, has accepted the Reich Government's invitation and will arrive in Berlin from London next Thursday.

It is expected that he will be received by Chancellor Hitler, the Foreign Minister, Herr von Ribbentrop, and other leading German statesmen.

Political circles believe that apart from the general political situation the colonial question is to be discussed between German statesmen and Mr. Pirow. Details of the programme of Mr. Pirow's Berlin visit are not yet available.—Trans-Ocean.

FRENCH BORROW IN HOLLAND

Amsterdam, To-day.

French treasury bills to the value of 100 million guilders have been taken over by the Nederlandsche Handels Maatschappij and the Amsterdam banking house of Menelssolin and Co., states an announcement just made here.

This transaction is said to have taken place with the knowledge but without the co-operation of the Nederlandsche Bank.

These treasury bills have a duration of three months and can be renewed by the French Government four times, namely for three further periods of three months each.

The bills are made out in guilders but repayment can be demanded either in guilders or in gold at the option of the holder.—Trans-Ocean.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE LESSON SERMON

Subject: Mortals and Immortals

The subject of the Lesson Sermon in all Christian Science Churches, tomorrow, November 13th, will be
"Mortals and Immortals."

The Golden Text will be:—"If any man be in Christ, he is a new creature: old things are passed away;
behold, all things are become new."
(11 Corinthians 5.17).

Among others the following citations will be read from the Bible:—"I will extol thee, O Lord, for thou hast lifted me up, and hast not made my foes to rejoice over me. O Lord, thou hast brought up my soul from the grave: thou hast kept me alive, that I should not go down into the pit. Thou hast turned for me my mourning into dancing: thou hast put off my sack cloth, and girded me with gladness: To the end that my glory may sing praise to thee, and

Mr. Proulx Deserved Fremantle St. Leger Victory On Lucky Lad.

SILKYLIGHT'S DEFEAT SHOULD NOT BE TAKEN SERIOUSLY

(By "RAPIER")

There was an exceptionally large gathering of racing fans present last Saturday at the Valley to witness the running of the Tenth Extra Race Meeting, which was conducted under ideal weather conditions. With the track in such a hard state, racing on the whole was quite fast, but the finishes in the majority of events were something which one could hardly enthuse over.

Mr. B. A. Proulx was the most successful jockey with two wins. Mr. Proulx's successes were more prominent in that he won the races confined to Australian ponies, his handling in both instances being of a very high order.

I think he deserves full credit for his great victory on Lucky Lad, in the Fremantle St. Leger, which was more in the nature of a surprise, as it was not expected that this pony would last the gruelling race.

SILKYLIGHT UNPLACED!

In the first race, the Surrey Handicap, over one mile, contested by four "A" Class China ponies, a surprise was in store. Despite the fact that Silkylight was carrying 168lbs. conceding no less than 16lbs. to Confusion Bay, and 29lbs. to King's Warden, it was made favourite, simply because the betting public had full confidence in this pony's ability. Such confidence was maintained only up to a certain stage in the race, however, and when it reached the most vital part, Silkylight, could not produce the fighting finish generally expected.

The race started fairly evenly, with Cameronian left slightly behind, but it soon came into line. Silkylight jumped into the lead, with Confusion Bay in close attendance. Cameronian and King's Warden were evidently satisfied to hold back, just behind. This order was maintained right up to the 1½ mile post, after which Cameronian emerged in front, but this was short-lived, as Silkylight again passed it before rounding the bend. Coming into the straight, King's Warden was still last, but it was fighting hard.

In the meantime, Confusion Bay responded gamely to Mr. Wei's urge and commenced to pull away, strongly challenged by Silkylight and King's Warden. Just when the race was about to develop into a great battle, Silkylight was forced to fall back, collide with the rails, leaving Confusion Bay to win, with King's Warden taking second place.

Silkylight's defeat was not altogether unexpected, but to see it running unplaced was something in the nature of a shock.

The defeat of this great warrior, however, should not be taken too seriously, and it will probably prove its worth in the Hong Kong St. Leger, at the next meeting.

A READY RESPONSE

In the first section of the Norfolk Handicap, for "D" Class China ponies, from the two mile post once round and in, it came as a surprise to see Royal Signness securing the non-share of the betting, followed to a lesser extent by Valorous.

In my notes on this race last week, I advocated keeping Coronation Day in mind, and those who remembered this had good reason to feel satisfied with the handsome dividend it paid out.

As expected, Mr. Raymond sent Estover into the lead, which it maintained for three-quarters of the journey, but coming into the straight, Mr. Chanson found a ready response from Coronation Day and, after passing Estover, it continued merrily on to win without being seriously challenged. Plain View did quite rather expected it to win.

A PROCESSION

The Sub-Griffins' St. Leger was run off something like a procession, and Salvage Master's win fully justified the great confidence which the racing public placed on it. At the start Mr. Encarnacao sent Final Triumph into the lead, and at one time it led by many lengths. After completing the first mile, Mr. Tao sent Salvage Master forward, and the distance between it and Final Triumph was gradually shortened, so much so that after passing the Rock in the final run these two ponies were practically together.

Coming into the straight, Salvage Master took command and won with plenty to spare, albeit tired out, but in the meantime Final Triumph was being seriously challenged by Dekko for second position. Hard riding on the part of Mr. Chanson had the effect of pushing Dekko in front by a neck.

ANOTHER FAILS BADLY

In the Queensland Handicap, for "A" Class Australian ponies, over a mile, another favourite failed badly. Despite its poor performance in a previous race, Courting Eve was strongly supported. Strathroy had over 500 tickets to win, which was a nice tribute to the ability of the pony, as it was being ridden by Mr. Colson for the first time.

Getting off to a good start, Lancashire Chips was in front followed by Centre Court and Courting Eve. Riding with full confidence, Mr. Proulx had Lancashire Chips moving along nicely all the way, and it was still leading when the ponies came into the straight.

Mr. Pih, on Courting Eve, was satisfied with playing a waiting game, but he waited a little too long with the result that Courting Eve found it impossible to make up lost ground. Lancashire Chips won by two lengths, and Courting Eve had to fight hard to prevent Centre Court taking second place, only a neck separating the two.

The fifth race, the Norfolk Handicap, second section, was the first leg of the "Daily Double," in which Diogenes (Mr. S. W. Tang), Racing Boy (Mr. S. C. Liang) and Tempest (Mr. L. B. Chao) shared the honours in the betting.

Taking the lead from the start, Ebony Idol (Mr. Proulx) looked good enough to win, but it faded out of the picture after being overhauled by Diogenes. The latter pony's lead, however, was short-lived as it turned was also beaten, with Racing Boy and Tempest coming through down the homeward stretch.

These two ponies put up a great fight, but within a 100 yards from the finish it became evident that Racing Boy was going to win.

Its victory by a length was well-deserved as it was handled with fine judgment by Mr. Liang. Tempest Morning, ridden by Mr. Wei, had to fight hard in order to fill the third place.

A BIG UPSET

In the Fremantle St. Leger, Tornado Star monopolised the betting to the extent of having over 2,000 tickets in the winning booth. It certainly looked a picture of fitness, and confidence in it was no doubt enhanced by the fact that it was being ridden by Mr. H. C. Pih, instead of its own stable jockey.

Those who backed it, however, had a rude shock, as the pony could only take second position. From the start, King's Privilege (Mr. Needa) set a fast pace, and by the time half the journey was over had a commanding lead of several lengths. This pony, however, lacked lasting power, was overhauled before coming into the last stretch. In the meantime, Lucky Lad was running strongly, and here again I hardly expected to see this pony doing so well. Tornado Star was also running well, and when coming into the straight it was in a good position to give Lucky Lad a bare battle. To the surprise of all, however, Lucky Lad not only held off the challenge, but maintained its lead to the end.

Suffering from a bad start, Annabella did well to occupy third position, the pony revealing a glimpse of its old form.

MR. HO'S FIRST WIN

In the Paddock Handicap, which was contested by novice jockeys, on "E" Class China ponies, the result was not altogether unexpected. Those who read my notes of the previous week will remember that, in my opinion, Flybnight was the best pony among the bunch; but it was a question of the jockey's ability to bring it in that I doubted.

Mr. Alex. Potts had a rough time in getting the ponies into line and only after three attempts and he got them moving. With so many ponies bunched together, it was difficult to see which was leading, but coming into the straight Yum Sing (Mr. A. F. Ingram) was out in front, followed by the Stymie (Mr. G. Treverton).

Just when it appeared as if Yum Sing was going to win Flybnight came through with a great burst of speed and snatched a fine win within the last few lengths.

Mr. Ho Hong-ping was the successful jockey, his first win to date, and he was accorded an ovation on the pony being led in. There were 23 tickets on Flybnight in the "Daily Double," and they were each paid the handsome dividend of $345.50, quite a useful return.

In the last race, the Sussex Handicap for "B" Class China ponies, over 1½ furlongs, I cannot understand why King's Coronation should have been made joint favorite with Elizabeth. Much as this pony has improved, I reckoned that the distance was far too short for its liking, and this was substantiated when the pony ran unplaced.

The ponies got away together fairly well, with Soldier of Britain (Mr. F. Li) taking lead, and Rob Roy (Mr. Encarnacao) slightly in the rear.

Elizabeth (Mr. Hearne) was somewhere in the middle. After turning the bend, Soldier of Britain was still leading, but it was being strongly challenged by Elizabeth.

Elizabeth reached the front after the two mile post and despite all Mr. Li's efforts, he could make no impression with Soldier of Britain on Elizabeth, and had to be content with second position. In the meantime, there was a great struggle for third place between Commencement Bay and Rob Roy, with the verdict going to the former.

Helen Bockler Playing For "Y" Juniors.

(By "STICKS")

Weather and grounds permitting, Ladies' hockey will make an official start this afternoon with two matches in the Caer Clark Cup and four encounters in the Brawn Cup League, all of which should provide for some interesting fare.

"Y" Ladies, holders of the Caer Clark Cup, have drawn a bye this week, but a very good match should be witnessed at the Valley where Hong Kong Ladies are at home to the much strengthened Central British Association Ladies.

In the remaining game, St. Andrew's meet the Central British Schoolgirls, making their debut in the senior League, in what promises to be a very fast and exciting match.

RIDING AT MACAO!
These two senior matches are expected to result in victories for C.B.A. Ladies and C. B. School, respectively. H.K. Ladies have been weakened in attack by the absence of Miss Mary Smalley, who will be riding at the Macao Jockey Club Meeting to-day, but they have Mrs. Scrimgeour, one of last year's successful players, back on the right-wing.

ROYAL SCOTS AND MIDDLESEX CLASH TO-DAY

Best Second Division Encounter

The meeting of the two regimental teams, Royal Scots and Middlesex, in the Second Division, provides the outstanding attraction in Junior football to-day.

Both teams are on level terms in the League table, but the Middlesex, last year's champions, have the better goal average and have won many of their games most convincingly.

Volunteer camp has caused the postponement of the St. Joseph's and Electric games.

The leading teams in the "B" section, of the Third Division, should win comfortably as neither of them are up against any opposition.

OUR LONDON AIR MAIL SPORTS NEWS

England's Test With Rest Of Europe

At the conclusion of the match between Wales and England at Cardiff on October 22 the following team was chosen to represent England against the Rest of Europe at Highbury on Wednesday:

Woodley; Sproston and Hapgood; Willingham, Cullis and Copping; Matthews, Hall (W. G.), Lawton, Goulden and Boyes.

Reserves: Welsh and Broome. Second Reserves: Robinson and Young.

There are two changes, Cullis for Young at centre-half, and Hall for Robinson at inside-right.

In the football sense, as in other directions, time marches on. Not very long ago anything approaching high-class football could only be witnessed in the countries of the British Isles. Next Wednesday, at the Arsenal Stadium, a football event will be staged which marks a definite step forward. An England team will be opposed to a side bearing the label "Rest of Europe." Never previously has a match been played in England in which different Continental countries have provided the opposition.

Unfortunately, circumstances prevent the Rest of Europe side being fully representative of Continental football in general. Players from Czechoslovakia and Hungary, who were among those originally selected, have been compelled to withdraw because their services are required in other connections. Hence most of the players who will represent the Rest of Europe at Arsenal Stadium will be Germans or Italians.

Even so, special efforts are being made by the manager of the Europe side to see that all possible precautions are taken with a view to giving England's chosen a close game. For example, Commendatore Vittorio Pozzo, who will be in charge of the Europe party, watched the International match between Wales and England yesterday. Having taken due note of the tactics of the England players, he flew back to Amsterdam to attend the final trials, arranged to help in the final selection of the Europe team.

It has become very necessary to make careful plans for such matches. No longer are we in a position so far in advance of the Continental players that such games can be treated as picnic affairs, to be won in comfort without the expenditure of the maximum of effort. Gone—probably for ever—is the time when England sides, playing "missionary" games against Continental countries, could pile up the goals to double-figure proportions. Coached by British players, the Continentals have shown remarkable aptitude for the game. As yet, no International side has been beaten in a game against a European side played in this country. Last summer, however, a fully representative England side, when touring, was hard pressed to gain victories over Germany and France, and was defeated by Switzerland.

The match will be controlled by English officials, and the huge crowd expected will doubtless be interested in the differing tactical ideas displayed by the competing sides. The one direction in which the players of European countries have not shown themselves the equals of British players is in shooting hard at goal. In approach work and short passing, with the ball on the ground, they have become our equals, if not our betters. Still, in a match played under conditions in England—possible heavy turf to which the Continentals are unaccustomed—England may be expected to win. Failure to do so would create general surprise.

M.C.C.'S SECOND MATCH STARTS TO-DAY

The M.C.C. Tourists will meet Western Province in a two-day match, commencing to-day at Capetown. This is the second match of their tour.

Lee Wai Tong Nets Twice: Watson Gives Grand Fullback Display

SERVICES' ATTACK POOR
IN FINISHING

MacAllister Shines In Goal

(By "REFEREE")

Sterling work by the defences featured yesterday's Armistice Day soccer match between the Combined Services and the Rest of the Colony, which resulted in a win for the latter by the odd goal in three, on the Club ground.

Lee Wai-tong, soccer idol of millions, made one of his all too rare appearances and scored both goals for the Rest, the second being typical of him. Together with Fung King-cheong, who supported him on the right, and Suen Kam-suen, who gave a grand display on his left, these three players took the limelight in the second half.

Failure of the Services' attack in rendering splendid spoiling work against Grogan and Strettle, who could make little headway.

Of the two forwards lines the Rest made more of their opportunities and were unfortunate not to have doubled their score. Fung and Yeung Shui-yick had a good understanding on the right, while Suen and Bickford were also dangerous when on the move, the Eastern inside-left being brilliant with his ground passes.

POOR FINISHING
The failure of the Services' attack was attributed to their slowness in front of goal, while they overfed the right winger, Grogan, who distinctly showed signs of being off colour in the first 15 minutes, and who should have been spared accordingly.

Lee Wai-tong opened the scoring five minutes from the interval after MacAllister had repeatedly saved from the Rest forwards, Yeung Shui-yick crossing the ball in the goalmouth for Lee to deflect the ball into the net.

The second half had not been many minutes old when a grand through-pass saw Lee cleverly round Watson and race through for a goal, scoring into the roof of the Services' net off MacAllister's hands, as the latter advanced from out of his charge.

THOBURN'S GOOD WORK
Services tried hard to reduce their arrears, but their attack repeatedly failed through poor finishing in spite of great work by Thoburn, at inside-left.

Eventually a goalmouth scrimmage saw the ball emerge to Strettle, who first-timed it into the left top corner. There was no further scoring.

Rev. Hinchcliff refereed and the teams were:

The Rest:—Tam Kwan-kon (South China "B"); Lee Ting-sang (South China "A") and Mak Shui-hon (South China "A"); E. Strange (Club), Forrow (Club), and Hui King-sing (Eastern); Yeung Shui-yick (South China "B"); Fung King-cheung (South China "A"); Lee Wai-tong (South China (Capt.), Suen Kam-suen (Eastern) and Bickford (Club).

Combined Services:—MacAllister (Navy); Watson, (Capt.) (Middlesex) and Henderson (R.N.); Down (Navy) Bright (Middlesex) and Berry (Lancashire Fusiliers); Grogan (Middlesex); Strettle (R. Marines), Hendry (R.N.), Thoburn (Navy) and Duffield (R.A.O.C.).

S. CHINA "A" ENTERTAIN CLUB TO-DAY

Four Senior Games
For Decision

Four First Division League football matches will feature to-day's senior programme and an excellent game should be seen at Causeway Bay where Navy meet St. Joseph's, both being at home.

The Navy are only one point behind South China "A" in the same number of games played and therefore cannot afford to take any risks.

South China "A" clash with Club, at Caroline Hill, and here another good encounter should be witnessed. Club have always managed to put up a good showing on South China's ground and have no several occasions come away with full points. It remains to be seen whether they can accomplish this task in face of the leader's fine form at the moment.

MAY TURN TABLES

Although Kwong Wah are favoured to beat Police, the latter may quite easily turn the tables on their hosts in view of their reorganised team, which inflicted a crushing 4 nil defeat on St. Joseph's a fortnight ago.

In the remaining match, a military "Derby" between Royal Scots and Middlesex, the latter should secure both points although they will be fully extended.

LADIES OPEN SINGLES AND DOUBLES TENNIS CHAMPIONSHIPS

The draw will be published in the Press on the November 21.

The first round and byes are to be played on or before November 27. The second and third rounds to be played off before December 7.

The finals and semi-finals will be played on the U.S.R.C. courts on dates to be notified later.

THE TIMID SOUL

Yesterday in a spirited bidding session we encountered two players who invariably take the bit in their teeth, feeling that they must make all decisions for their partners. To-day we run into a completely opposite type of player. He is the Casper Milquetoast of Bridge—a player who will never bid decisively no matter how hard his partner urges. The only way to get to game with Casper is to just bid it, going on the assumption that he is underbidding several tricks. Of course, if Casper does not show up with substantial excess values, his partner is likely to incur a large penalty.

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1♥	Pass	1NT	2♣
2♥	3♣	3♥	Pass
Pass	Pass

Just glance at South's hand. Actually his opening bid is completely unsound, and yet he not only opened with one heart, but promptly rebid at his first opportunity. Of course Casper, his partner, did finally raise him to three hearts. But we really don't see how South could continue to game with any justification. Four hearts is not a laydown. Nevertheless there is a very good play for game and as the cards were distributed, it was easily made.

And now a very simple principle that should help the Casper Milquetoasts of Bridge, who miss so many games: When their partner has opened the bidding and they themselves hold a hand that is equal or close to opening bid strength, they should strongly encourage a game contract. Using simple addition. A minimum opening bid added to another weak opening bid in partner's hand will produce a game far more than half the time unless the hands are completely misfit.

What's On At the Cinemas

AT THE STAR—"Smilin' Through." Norma Shearer's triumph is welcomed back in response to a large demand on the part of the public, and still remains a rare film treat. Frederic March and Leslie Howard take the other main roles in the picture. The story is based on the famous Jane Cowl stage success. Playing prominent roles are O. P. Heggie, Ralph Forbes, Beryl Mercer, David Torrence, Margaret Seddon and Forrester Harvey.

AT THE MAJESTIC—"The Goldwyn Follies." The greatest entertainers of the stage screen, radio, dance and grand opera put on the greatest show the screen has ever shown, in Samuel Goldwyn's glorious technicolor screen musical. The cast includes Adolphe Menjou, the Ritz Bros., Zorina, Ken-ny Baver, Andrea Leeds, Helen Jepson, Phil Baker, Ella Logan, Bobby Clark, Jerome Cowan, the American Ballet, Edgar Bergen and "Charlie McCarthy."

AT THE ORIENTAL—"The Life of Emile Zola." Warner's most ambitious film production of many months. This picture is a vibrant, tense and emotional story about the man who fought a nation with his pen and successfully championed the cause of the exiled Capt. Alfred Dreyfus. With Paul Muni in the title rôle, supported by distinguished players, the film is finely made and merits high rating as cinema art and fully deserves significant recognition.

AT THE KING'S—"Adventures of Marco Polo," with Gary Cooper, Sigrid Gurie, Basil Rathbone, Alan Hale, and Ernest Trues. The private life and loves of one of history's bravest adventurers who fought his way to the court of China's emperor and then win a princess.

AT THE QUEEN'S AND ALHAMBRA—"Carefree," with Ginger Rogers, Fred Astaire and Ralph Bellamy. The picture deals with the triangular romance between a popular actress, a distinguished medical man and a successful lawyer. The "Yam" scheduled to be the popular dance of the season is featured by the two dancing stars. Besides the songs of "Yam" there are other numbers included from Irving Berlin.

GET RID OF THIS GRUSH—it can't clean the lavatory-pan properly—can't reach the bend in the pipe.

HERE'S HARPIC AT WORK—just a regular sprinkle cleans and disinfects the lavatory-pan thoroughly, and removes the cause of odours.

CHINESE MAKE STEADY ADVANCE ON CANTON

Shiukwan, To-day.

The Chinese counter-offensive, aiming at the recapture of Canton, is making further progress. The Chinese now claim to have retaken Tamshui, 10 miles inland from Bias Bay, Fahsien, 25 miles north of Canton, and Lungmoon, 70 miles northeast of Canton. The drive on Tsungfa, 25 miles northeast of Canton, is steadily gaining ground. Braving continuous rain, three columns of Chinese troops are advancing on the city. The central column has reached Taishektung, 7 miles northeast, the left wing Shekkonghu, 12½ miles east, and the right wing Ngmaskan, 12 miles north.

KING AND QUEEN SAILING IN MAY NEXT

LONDON, TO-DAY.

IT IS UNDERSTOOD THAT THE KING AND QUEEN WILL LEAVE IN THE BATTLE-CRUISER H.M.S. REPULSE FROM PORTSMOUTH FOR CANADA IN THE SECOND WEEK IN MAY.

With them will travel a small suite consisting of about ten persons from the Household.

It is unlikely that any British Minister will travel with the King.

The United States visit of Their Majesties will be an interlude during the Canadian tour, and will probably be confined to Washington.—Reuter.

MISSIONARIES SAFE

Hankow, To-day.

It is reliably learned that missionaries at Sinyang and Anchwang, on the Lungha Railway, are all safe.

Both towns have been occupied by the Japanese.—Reuter.

Entrenched in the hilly regions around Tsungfa, the Japanese have put up stiff resistance. However, knowing the countryside well, the Chinese have outmanoeuvred them.

Another Chinese column is pressing to Tsengshing, 35 miles east of Canton. The vanguards have reached Wunhonhu.

Tamshui is understood to have been recaptured by troops under Lieut.-General Chang Jui-kwei. With its recapture, Japanese communication between Bias Bay, main base of their operations in Kwangtung, and Canton has been cut.

Lungmoon was abandoned by the Japanese on Wednesday night. The Chinese re-entered the city shortly after their departure.

Many Japanese soldiers were taken prisoners and a number of Japanese tanks captured at Fahsien when the city was re-occupied.

The Chinese troops who recaptured Fahsien are now advancing on Canton by the Canton-Fahsien highway simultaneously with Chinese units from other directions.

A report from Kwangchowwan, French leased territory, states that eleven Japanese warships are cruising off the southwestern Kwangtung coast.—Central News.

NOBEL PRIZE

Stockholm, To-day.

The Nobel Prize for Chemistry for 1938 will not be distributed. The available money will possibly be added to the prize of 1939.—Trans-Ocean.

The Queen, on her return to London from Scotland, saw the new fashions and selected her autumn clothes. Cizard, left, and Mme Emillienne, fitters, with one of the gowns chosen by the Queen, returning from Buckingham Palace. (Copyright).

The East Surrey Regiment are leaving for Shanghai to-day on the B.I. steamer Santhia. This is part of the normal trooping programme as the East Surreys are replacing the Durham Light Infantry, who in turn replaced the Lancashire Fusiliers at Tientsin.

Tientsin, To-day.

A firm stand to enforce the principles of the open door, including retaliatory and other measures to compel realisation that American interests in China must be respected, was urged in a resolution passed yesterday by the American Chamber of Commerce in Tientsin.

The resolution unequivocally endorses the United States note to Tokyo on October 6 requesting the Japanese Government to cease discrimination against American enterprises in China.

It complains among other things of Japanese censorship of American mails and magazines, travel obstructions, and exchange and trade control in Kalgan, which is alleged to be vitally affecting American business in Mongolian products.—Reuter.

George Williams, a wireless operator, and George Dick, an engineer, of s.s. Ben Nevis, failed to make an appearance before Mr. R. Edwards at the Central Magistracy to-day to answer a charge of using profane or abusive language to Chow Ching-chui, at the China Emporium Ball-Room yesterday.

Their bail of $20 each was estreated.
